Nepal police arrested a man allegedly involved in the murder of a prominent social media activist who was fighting for a Hindu-Muslim unity. According to reports, the police has issued an arrest warrant for Amit Malla Rana, the man arrested for murdering Agam Rakshak Kirti Pandey on June 29. Pandey was the founder of the website, Rakshak-Ekta.org and had been on a hunger strike in an attempt to get the authorities to investigate reports of crimes against Hindus. According to Nepal 24 News, the suspect confessed to have murdered Pandey while being interrogated by the police, but he claimed that he was being blackmailed, and that he killed the man because he was blackmailing him. At the time of his death, Pandey was in Kathmandu to make a video protesting against the murder of Hindu priest of Narayananj and his own forced conversion to Islam in 2014.Rana is expected to be brought to Kathmandu tomorrow. The suspected killer will have to go through interrogation before being sent to custody for further investigations. Although Pandey was regularly receiving death threats, he is believed to have been personally targeted.
