“It is an action RPG set in a fantasy world where the player directly controls the avatar of an avatar, and uses various weapons and magic while riding the horse. When attacking, the avatar can freely attack an enemy of the same level or up to one level higher. The enemy's HP and all life points lost during the battle are shared between you and the enemy, and the battle becomes intense. The player can repeatedly fight against monsters as they grow stronger as they progress. The amount of strong and weak monsters appear varies each time. The overall balance of monsters is constantly changing. You can freely develop the avatar's skills by using items. The items increase the character's strength and ability to attack, and they also increase the character's evolution rate. The strength of the character increases as you level up the avatar's skills. In addition to using items and evolving, by training the avatar and taking on quests, the avatar can gain experience points and obtain items. The main goal of the game is to level up as many times as possible to obtain a stronger hero with greater abilities. The final action in the game takes place during the battle, where it is necessary to use the final gift to defeat the enemy. While avoiding attacks, the hero gives a blow with its special attack to beat the enemy. This action requires a bit of
