They look exactly like photographs taken by a professional photographer and the detail is amazing. I have to admit that I was already a fan of the artist because I had some great shots of her before on the internet. You know, I like her innocent look, the fact that she has no makeup on and she's just being herself. I love this series of photos of her. Her blue eyes and blue hair look great in the middle of all that white snow. This could have been a very awkward but probably hot moment. As far as I know, she's not an actress and I'm not sure why she does this. She does this for the few photos that she sells. Maybe some day she'll be able to make enough money off this to support herself with modeling. One thing is sure, she could get a lot of publicity and sell a lot of photos. In any case, she's no stranger to the web. People are always posting her photos on the internet. She's never been arrested and she's never been charged with a crime. The only place that she has been arrested is in Italy because she was doing the "Big Cat Scratch and Makeup" show in Milan. She was charged with spreading obscene information on the internet. I think that the laws are a little outdated on what is considered obscene. Now, this application uses Servlet 3.0, hence all web application servers should have a JSP 3.0 compiler, including the latest Apache Tomcat 6.x. Moreover, we're actually developing an Android application that communicates with our web app. In this case, we expect to have a JAR file that contains all the necessary classes and configurations needed for the Android application to talk with the HTTP
